DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

CHLORODYNE

(Ex Army Med. Staff) IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION .- Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the Inventor of Chlorodyne, that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, being the Inventor was deliberately untrue; which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent Hospital Physician of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's. - See Times, July 12, 1864. The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than. DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE. Remedial uses and action.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it al hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively, using it in great quantities in the following diseases :-

Diseases in which it is found eminently useful-Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhosa, Coughs, Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Whooping, Cough, Cramp, Hys-

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Dayenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne .-See Lancet, Dec. 31, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay :- "Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed."

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subble maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well for ified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."-Ses article in the Civil Service Gazette.

(OZONIC OXYGEN) The New Curative Agent, and only Re liable Remedy for Nervous and Liver Complaints.

This Phosphatic combination is pronounced by the most eminent members of the Medical Profession to be unequalled for its power in repleni-shing the vitality of the body, by its supplying all the essential constituents of the blood and nerve substance, and for developing all the powers and functions of the system to the highest degree It is agreeable to the palate, and innocent in its action, while retaining, all its extraordinary properties: and as a specific, surpassing all the the speedy and permanent cure of-Nervous Prostration, Liver Complaints, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Noises in the Head and Ears. Logs; of Energy; and Appetite, Hypochondria, Female Complaints, General Debility, Indiges tion, Flatulence, Incapacity for Study or Business, Sick Headache, Lassitude, Shortness of Breath, Trembling of the hands and limbs, Impaired Nutrition, Mental and Physical Depression Consumption (in its first stages only), Timidity Eruptions of the Skin, Impaired Sight and Memory, Nervous Fancies, Impoverished Blood Nervous Debility in all its Stages, Premature Decline, and all morbid conditions of the system arising from whatever cause. The action of the Phosphodyne is twofold on the one hand in creasing the principle which constitutes nervous energy, and on the other the most powerful blood and tesh generating agent known; therefore, marvellous medicine for renovating impaired and broken-down constitutions. It quickly improves the functions of assimilation to such a degree that where for years an emaciated, anxious, cadaverous, and semi-vital condition has existed. the flesh will rapidly increase in quantity and firmness, and the whole system return to a state of robust health. The Phosphodyne acts electrically upon the organisation; for instance, it assists nature to generate that human electricity which renews and rebuilds the esseous, muscular, nervous, membranous, and organic systems. operates on the system without exciting care o thought upon the individual as to the process It moves the lungs, liver, heart, kidneys, stomach and intestines, with a harmony, vigour, yet mildness unparalleled in medicine.

The Phosphodyne gives back to the human structure, in a suitable form, the phosphoric or animating element of life, which has been wast ed, and exerts an important influence directly on the spinal marrow and nervous system, of nutritive, tonic, and invigorating character. maintaining that buoyant energy of the brain and muscular system which renders the mind cheer ful, brilliant, and energetic, entirely overcoming that dull, inactive, and sluggish disposition which many persons experience in all their

The beneficial effects of the Phosphodyne are frequently shown from the first day of its administration, by a remarkable increase of nervous power, with a feeling of vigour and comfort, to which the patient has long been unaccustomed. Digestion is improved; the appetite increases wonderfully; the bowels become regular; the eyes brighter; the skin clear and healthy; and the hair acquires strength, showing the importance of the action of the Phosphodyne on the organs of nutrition. Finally, the Phosphodyne maintains a certain degree of activity in the previously debilitated nervous system; its use enables all debilitated organs to return to their sound state and perform their natural functions. Persons, suffering from Nervous Debility, or any of the hundred symptoms which this distressing disease assumes, may rest assured of an effectual and even speedy cure by the judicious use of this most invaluable remedy.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS Persons suffering from weak or debilitated constitutions will discover that by the use of this wonderful medicine there is "Health for all." The blood is the fountain of life, and its purity can be maintained by the use of these Pills. Sir Samuel Baker, in his work entitled "The Nile Tributaries in Abyssinia," says, 'I ordered the dragoman Mahomet to inform the Fakey that I was a Doctor, and that I had the best medicines at the service of the sick, with advice gratis. In a short time I had many applicants, to whom I served out a quantity of Holloway's Pills. These are most useful to an explorer, as possessing unmistakable purgative properties they create an undeniable effect upon the patient, which satisfies him of their

HONGRONG, SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1876.

THE picture of "oursels as ithers see us" is not always a very agreeable one. especially when drawn by an unfriendly hand. Such representations, however, are not without their value. Man, in his own estimation, is more or less faultless, and it is advisable that he should occasionally see himself as others see him, even if the painting is the work of a prejudiced critic. The same remarks apply to society. It is more than probable that society in Dahomey would feel somewhat indignant if compared unfavourably with that in other parts of the world, although we believe that in that benighted kingdom all women are considered the property of its ruler, and a grand distribution of wives is made by him once every year nor is it difficult to perceive that a considerable amount of good might be effected if these fantastic barbarians could be made for a single moment to see themselves as others see them. Under the heading of "English Life in the Colonies" a correspondent of the Gazette has recently given impressions of society in Hongkong after a residence here apparently of several years. The lucubration is not a very powerful one, and the writer seems, more auxious to say unpleasant things of us than the truth still it is always interesting to know what is being said of us in quiet corners.

The writer no sooner gets over the introductory portion of his letter than.

he falls foul of our social distinctions.

"On my arrival in Hongkong," he says, "knowing that the number of Europeau Residents was small in proportion to the whole population of the Colony, I naturally expected to find that those social distinctions which form such impassablebarriers amongst the different classes at home would be almost entirely set aside, and that all would be on intimate terms one with another; but in this I was soon undeceived; the spirit of exclusiveness so powerful elsewhere is equally prevalent in Hongkong, and the boundary lines which separate class from class are distinctly and strongly marked, subversive alike of that good feeling which ought to characterise Englishmen in their dealings with one another both at home and abroad, as well as of the highest and best interests of the community at large." After having thus in broad terms satisfactorily disposed of our social system, and administered an appropriate moral lesson, the writer descends to a few particulars. First of all he introduces the "stiff and pom-Postmaster General. pous government official, who is scarcely iys on speaking terms with anybody engaged in trade," then "the wealthy merchant, who is equally far removed from his clerks," and lastly he takes exception to the clerks or "mercantile. assistants " themselves. "Amongst this latter class," he says, "the distinctions real or imaginary are most absurd; they divide themselves into Seniors and Juniors, and apart from business, maintain a wide distance between each other. In one well-known firm they nearly all live together in one house but do not dine at the same table, there being Senior and a Junior mess." We had almost come to the conclusion, after reading a portion of the letter, that the writer himself was an unhappy member of the confraternity of "mercantile assistants" here, but when he goes on to speak of that body as "conceited, ignorant and vain, rendering themselves ridiculous by their fruitless efforts to ape the manners and oustoms of their superiors," we felt bound to at once disabuse our mind of any such impres-

No far it certainly cannot be charged against the writer that he has attempted to flatter us. But his remarks respecting the Portuguese and Eurasian clerks in the Colony are still less uncomplimentary in fact some of them are so scurrilous and silly that we prefer confining their publicity to that already afforded them byour Penang contemporary. "They are," he says, "by far the most numerous class in commercial life that their existence is most prejudicial to the interests of our search of employment. Where a Euro- painted. Defendants were discharged with pean would expect a salary of $100 or a caution. $120 per mensem they are content with from $30 to $50. Not only this, they speak the native language fluently as well as English, they are willing to work a much greater number of hours than our countrymen could possibly do and their expenses of life are next to nothing. Whilst the heads of firms can obtain Eurasian labour so cheaply, it is certain that they will not pay a higher price to their own countrymen. The consequence is that many have left for other Colonies where there is a better prospect of gaining a livelihood, and the presence of these usurpers (as they may be called) being known at home prevents many others from coming out. We cannot blame the heads of firms for studying economy in paying their Assistants, but at the same time it is to be regretted that they find it necessary to set aside respectable Englishmen for these persons, having apparently no higher object in view than saving a few dollars more or less. The writer is evidently not one of the liberal-minded few, and, in regard to the closing sentence of the extract, it would perhaps be well for some kind friend to suggest to him that possibly instead of preaching moral lessons to officer entered the room and shot Hussein others, he endeavoured first of all to and Reschid Pasha dead, and wounded the impress their principles upon himself. The idea of entering into a tirade against social distinctions in this Colony, and immediately afterwards to talk of "repectable Englishmen" as compared with these persons (Portuguese) certainly at 11.—Reader, The Colonial Chaplain; does not say much for the consistency, fairness or common sense of the writer. There is only one other point in the letter that we will take the trouble to notice. The writer is unmerciful with the members of the Legislative Coun-"A seat in the Local Parliament," he says, "confers the title of 'honorable' on its possessor, and the eager manner in which this empty title is sought after is remarkable. . . These honorables' seem to consider themselves the Lords of Creation." The "stars" of the Legislative Council must feel somewhat overthrowa," From Mendelssohn's "Eliextinguished after this!

On the whole the letter is a nonsensical and childish production. The writer proposes to continue his "impressions" of this Colony and the Straits in subsequent issues of the Gazette, but we trust our comtemporary will have discretion enough to keep his columns clear of such rubbish in future.

It has, however, reference to the Foreign settlement particularly, and we now give an account of the effect of the calamity in the interior of the where the Government offices ar located. The houses here are, as a rule, built to no greater au average height than 12 feet, nor are they constructed with any upper floors or lofts, mud, so when the water rises, they become softened and succumb, causing much destruction to life. The houses here are by no means so well constructed as those in Canton, and the flimsy nature of the buildings adds no small share to the calamity. Luckily, however, there was no wind accompanying the down-pour, otherwise the sufferings would have been undoubtedly much greater; nor was there any after the submersion. Had this not been so, I fear there would have been hardly a house left standing. To-day, the 15th, while I am writing (I commenced the letter yesterday) the streets at the South Gate are not yet quite free of the water there being still a depth of one foot. After this roundabout, however, let me say that on our second voyage we came to Hongkong from Bombay, and were, after the usual preliminaries, despatched to Whampon, at that time the great centre of the European trade with China. The population of this tradal depot consisted of people who suchood out of the shipping, and comprised compradores, stevedores and others. I noticed that in the event of a shower of rain falling, or in the absence of lighters, or any other of the untoward circumstances that may interfere with the progress of workon board ship, Mr Asum Ting invariably took special care to reduce his hired men to a minimum. In discharging, it used to be an especial amusement of mine to watch the Chinese officials who had business connected with the cargo. First, there were the Cusweighing-machines and weigher, all clean and trim outwardly but inwardly bent upon, putting a stop to it? in some mysterious way known only to themselves, making some "good pidgin" out of the entire proceedings, and by means of the detested Fan yan. M.] cargo-owners, and the consignee's clerks-I should think not less than at least fifty peo> ple, forming a community of themselves, separate from the ship's company. My personal duties were humble enough as I simply endeavoured to "obey orders." The unloading went on apace, and we were soon down to the 'tween decks, at least we had ample room to move about there; but the bags of fishmaw and pieces of sandalwood were sadly in the way and required looking after, So one Saturday morning after breakfast, the chief officer called out. "Boy Jim, go down in the 'tween there and look after those bags of fishmaw; if see any broken ones, take palm and needle and sew them up. 'Ay, ay, Sir." To hear was to obey; and having provided myself with the requisite tools, I went to work-certainly not too soon, for many of the bags were broken and their contents were scattered about. I may here mention that a bag of fishmaw at that time was valued at about $20, and contained about 65 to 70 lbs. weight: this valuation may be found to have some bearing on the story by and by. Gathering the broken bags into one heap I proceeded to pick up the pieces, replace them in their several receptacles, and sew up the rents.

While thus employed I could not help observing Mr Asum Ting quietly watching me. After shuffling about uneasily for some time, he took a seat close by me; and then ensued a conversation in "pidgin" English, which it is needless here to give in detail. the gist of it all being that the miserable and misguided Celestial had so outbid his brother atevedores that he had engaged to do the ship's work for a certain loss. According to "olo China custom," therefore, he had set his wits to work in order to make up the deficiency by some other means. had surreptitiously induced the sailors sell him two bags of fishmaw for $14 each. which bags were of course to be stolen by the crew; and in the event of the theft being undetected, the packages would have been marked in the ship's accounts as " short delivered," and debited to the Master or Owner. It was ultimately arranged, after much haggling and scheming, that two bags of the coveted luxury should be handed over to Mr Asum Ting, the price agreed upon to be paid on delivery. But I would here ask that the Grand Jury of the public should pause ere they sign their indictment against the honesty of the ship's company.

On that particular Saturday night, after the forecastle assembled to fulfil what I bes and the old folks at home. I can remember nearly thirty dollars; and our friend and "pal" was to arrive, by appointment, under the ship's bow at 10 p.m. to take delivery fishmaw at a certain price, we argued that as spar on which our carpenter had been engaged writer were chosen by our shipmates to carry out the details of this dreadful plot. > THE OTHER SIDE To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL." Hongkoog, June 24th, 1876.

SIR -I read in your valuable journal a letter signed "Nerves," and I really pitied him for being too nervous to live near a Uhristian Church. " Nerves" might easily escape this alleged "nuisance" by simply placing cotton in his ears, or removing to some other place—not too near the St. John's Cathedral, as it possesses more bells than the R. C. Church, and its Bell-ringer is also accustomed to grind the clapper of the Bells for a good quarter of an hour whenever a religious service is going on, disregarding all people like "Nerves." The best place I can safely recommend your correspondent to go is the Peak Sanitarium, where he can enjoy the peace, dor there is scarcely any other place in the Colony where a Bell is not to be heard summoning the people for prayer.

If "Nerves" should be affected sometimes by the booming of guns, I can also. recommend him to go to the other side of the hill. Aberdeen or Stanley, then he will be relieved. But I fancy he is nervous only when he hears a Church Bell. Apologizing for trespassing on your valuable space,

A NUISANCE. To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL.

Hongkong, June 24th, 1870, DEAR SIE, -A short time ago, you kindly inserted a complaint, from one of your correspondents, relative to stone breaking in the public streets. May I be permitted to state that that unbearable nuisance has now made its appearance in Caine Road, near the spot where the wall recently gave way. To judge from the clatter and din of the coolies, one would think we were posttively dwelling in a stone quarry. They commence their delightful avocations in the usual manner of chipping, and knocking, almost as soon as it is daylight, greatly to the approvance of several residents. It is particularly annoying to those who wish for in extra hour's rest in the morning after the fatigue of heavy mail work overnight, But worse than that, it is absolutely distressing to an invalid who is compelled to lie on a bed of slokness.

Yours truly QUIETUDE.

RACING AT HONG KONG. BY AN OLD AUSTRALIAN.

To one not long away from Australia, who has witnessed the principal meetings insignificance, and yet they have great charms of their own. Their principal attractions are novelty, and the easier and pleasanter manner in which things are conducted, together with the utter absence of the professional element either in riding or betting. Let no one be led away wit the idea that the races referred to are horse races : therein lies their novelty to I wot not, but of which ancient residents speak as the "good old days of China," there were horse ruces. Even an English Derby winner, West Australian, was imported, but the principal horses raced were owing to the great scarcity of the " M. xiand the entries are confined to Japan, Manila, and China ponies.

China boys only; during the races the over, wore of the most artistic nature. Then as almost everybody knows everyone alse, even if not otherwise interested, one has a personal interest in the result, through being acquainted with one or more of the riders. During the progress of the races, one may walk the whole length of the lawn with a lady, and she will not be deafened with the yelling out of the odds, nor shocked by the elegant language which often accompanies the offer. What betting there is, takes place in a quiet way.

the day after the races were over. The news of Richmond's victory in the Champion Race at Melbourne on New Year's Day had just reached, and reading the description of it and all the attendant circumstances, so different to what had passed here, made me think that my old friends would not take it amiss by being given a brief recital of the principal events that had taken place. This not so much on account of the real actual sport, as because of the peculiarities connected with a China race meeting. Once the race time was the carnival season of the year. This season is towards the end of the cold weather, when all sports come off, just as people are looking forward with anything but glee to the approach of summer, during with they will be slowly grilled alive. Then were the days of race horses, and the principal houses, many of which have since gone to the wall owing to the late bad years, owned horses and ran them, one against the other. They all had bungalows erected on the race-course in was laid out, and where every friend of the house was expected to eat and drink of the best. The mere fact of already having had one or two tiffins was not considered sufficiont excuse to refuse the hospitality showered on the second day not being quite favorable As it was very gold and inclined to be foggy. The course is situated about a mile and three quarters from the centre of the town, and is the prettiest of the few pretty spots on the island. It is placed in a valley fitly named by the Chinese Wong, and by that name or its English equivalent is it known to Europeans, viz., the Happy Valley. RULES FOR BANK CUSTOMERS. The annexed rules are recommended by an American paper to the attention of these who do business at the banks. A great deal of time and annoyance may be saved-by not following them:-

Rule 1 .-- If you have any business with a bank, put it off until 8 o'clock, or, if possible, a little later, as it looks more bours are not always exactly what one would business-like to rush in as the bank is

Rule 3 .- In depositing money, try to get it upside down and wrong end foremost, so that the cashier may have a little exercise in straightening it up before counting it. Rule 4.—It is best not to take your bank

Rule 5 .- If a cheque is made payable to Rule 7 .- You can generally save time

Rule 10.-Always date your cheque your cheque will be in.

Rule 11.-When you order back a collection be sure and not give the amount or the day when it is due, as it gives the bank officer a chance to look over all his collection books in finding it, and impresses him with the idea that your transactions are so immense that you cannot keep an account

A strict observance of the foregoing rules will make your accounts desirable for any

The cloth by this operation becomes of a closer texture and sells at a far better price; but there is no doubt that the process deteriorates the article. which becomes less durable, and is an imposition on the purchaser.

An English phonographic magazine has the appended piece of information. "The following explanation has been given of the extraordinary functionary (Printer's devil), who lingers still in our literature, but whom we now seek in vain in our printing-office. There was in Venice a printer named Aldus Manutius, who in his business was largely assisted by a negro lad whom some ignorant people believed to be an emissary of Satan. He was known in the city as the little black devil'; and so great was the curiosity of the people respecting the negro boy that his master one day (in order possibly to free himself of the charge of necromanov or something worse) publicly exhibited his sable assistant, and made the following declaration :- I Aldus Manutius, printer to the High Church of the Doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who imagine that he is not flesh and blood, come and pinch him.""

A Good but simple man residing in village in Dumfriesshire struck up an intimacy with a neighbour recently arrived in the locality. This latter appears a very goodly sort of person whose frequent intercourse and conversation afforded no small degree of pleasure and edification to his newly acquired friend. The new comer had at last risen so high in the confidence and esteem of the other that he believed him to be a saint if there was one in the world. One night, however, hearing some disturbance in the henroost, he went out with a light to discover the cause, when, lo! there was his pious friend very deliberately twisting the necks of the poultry preparatory to carrying them off. The good man, more aghast at the flagrant hypogrisy of his neighbour than concerned for his own loss, exclaimed, more in sorrow than in anger-'Oh, Dawvid, Dawvid, man, little did I expect to meet wi' you here! This consists of a small telegraphic button placed conveniently under the desk of the proprietor of this chaste family journal, and which connects with the composing-room of the establishment. A slight pressure of the foot upon the knob is all that is necessary to at once precipitate a sortie in force from the composing room by an efficient delegation of typos, selected with as careful an eye to their muscular development as to their typo. graphical proficiency. On Thursday last the benevolent and corpulent President of an Insurance Company called upon the proprietor, accompanied by a small dog. It is supposed that this innocent canine must have inadvertently laid down upon the aforesaid knob. At all events, the door was suddenly dashed open, and before a word could be spoken the old gentleman was set upon by the reserve cohort from above, and incontinently battered up into a lot. He was subsequently sent home on a cot in a furniture wagon. As we prepare for press, the latest report of his condition is such that we have placed his obituary in type. It is calculated to make a stone statue weep and the family of our lacerated friend happy for a year. We are bound to make the amend honorable. The sad moral of the above is to the your dog to the lamp. Art b. No. officer to refuse any sailor post before calling at the News Letter office. "BERKELLY, Sept. 1869. -Gentlemon, 1feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking Norton's Camomile Pills. I applied to your agent Mr Bell, Berkeley, for the above-named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered exeruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but withtaking two bottles of your valuable pills, I, was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted. -To the Proprietors of Nonton's Came.

PARCEL POST.—There is a common belief in the existence of a Parcel Post by which such articles as Fans, Curios, Silk Dresses, Scarves, Jewellery, Artificial Teeth, &c., can be forwarded at low rates. It cannot be too distinctly stated that such things can only be sent as Letters, and the very cheapest rate is 12 cents per half ounce by Private Steamer.

All such packages should be Registered (8 cents).

If the Parcel be heavy it can be sent through one of the Parcel Expresses conducted by Messrs Lane, Crawford, or Ma W. H. Notley, which, for anything over 4 or 5 ounces, will be found cheaper than the Post.

Any publication fulfilling the conditions hereafter named can pass as a newspaper.

Registration,

The conditions are as follows:--1st. The publication must consist wholly or in great part of political or other news, or of articles relating thereto, or to other current topics, with or without advertise-

2nd. It must be published in numbers at intervals of not more than 31 days, and must be printed on a sheet or sheets unstitched.

3rd. The full title and date of publication must be printed at the top of the first page and the whole or part of the title and the date of publication at the top of every subsequent page; and this regulation applies to Tables of Contents and Indices.

4th. A supplement must consist wholly or in great part of matter like that of newspaper, or of advertisements; printed on a sheet or sheets, or a piece or pieces of paper, unstitched; or wholly or in part of engravings, prints, or lithographs illustrative of articles in the newspaper. The supplement must in every case be published with the newspaper, and must have the title and date of publication of the newspaper printed at the top of every page por, if it consists of engravings, prints, or lithographs, at the top of every sheet or side.

A packet containing two or more newspapers is not chargeable with a higher rate of postage than would be chargeable on a book packet of the same weight.

A newspaper posted unpaid, or a packet of newspapers posted either unpaid insufficiently paid, is treated as an unpaid or insufficiently paid book packet of the same weight.

The postage must be prepaid either by an adhesive stamp, or by the use of a stamped

No newspaper can now be sent through the post a second time for the origina postage. For each transmission a fresh postage is required.

Every newspaper must be posted either both ends, so as to admit of easy removal for examination. If this rule be infringed the newspaper is treated as a letter.

Every newspaper must be so folded, as to admit of the title being readily inspected.

A newspaper or packet of newspapers which contains any enclosure except supplements is charged as a letter, unless the enclosure be such as might be sent at the book rate of postage, and the entire packet be sufficiently prepaid as a book packet, in which case it is allowed to pass. A newspaper which has any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written in it or upon its cover, is charged as an unpaid or insufficiently paid letter.

No packet of newspapers may be above 8 lbs. in weight, nor above two feet in length, one foot in width, nor one in depth.

· A book-packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications (including printed or lithographed letters). photographs (when not on, glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance),

Circulars, -i.e., letters which are intended for transmission in identical terms to several persons, and the whole or the greater part of which is printed, engraved, or lithographed, -may also be sent by book post.

But a book-packet may not contain any letter, or communication of the nature of letter (whether separate or otherwise) unless it be a circular-letter or be wholly printed; nor any enclosure sealed or in any way closed against inspection; nor any other enclosure not allowed by Rule 3. this rule be infringed, the entire packet is charged as a letter.

For the greater security of the contents, however, it may be tied at the ends with string; Postmasters being authorised to out the string in such cases, although if they do so they must again tie up the packet.

No book-packet may be above 5 lbs. in weight, nor above 24 inches in length, 12 inches in width, or 12 inches in depth, unless it be sent to or from one of the Government offices.

When, owing to a great and unusual influx of letters, books, drc., the transmission or delivery of the letters would be delayed if the whole mail were dealt with without distinction, book-packets may be kept back till the next despatch or delivery.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 inches in length and 12 inches in width or depth. Exceptions. - No packet for Algeria, Azores, Cape de Verd Islands, França Madeira, or Portugal, or for Egypt, Syriff or Turkey, when sent by French Packet, must be above 18 inches in length, width,

AS REGARDS PATTERNS.

They must not be of intrinsic value. This rule excludes all articles of a maleable nature, and indeed whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern; and the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern must not be so great that it can fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value.

Pattern and Sample Post to colonies and foreign countries is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise. Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be) or any articles sent by one private individual to another, which are not actual patterns or samples, are not admissible. Patterns or samples, when practicable, must be sent in covers open at the ends, and in such a manner as to be easy of examination. But samples of seeds, drugs, and such like articles, which cannot be sent in covers of this kind, -but such articles only,-may be posted enclosed in boxes, or bags of linen, of other material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened; or, in the case of seeds, &c., for the United States of America, Holland. and its possessions, Belgium, Denmark Greece, Portugal and its possessions, and Switzerland, in bags entirely closed, provided such closed bags are transparent, so as to enable the Officers of the Post Office readily to satisfy themselves as to the nature of the contents. There must be no writing or printing upon or in any packet except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender a trade mark or number, and the price of the articles.

Samples of intrinsic value must not be sent to any foreign country except United States; and in the case of France samples of eider down, raw or thread silk, woollen or goats' hair thread, vanilla, saffron carmine, or isinglass, are considered to fall under this rule if they weigh more than three ounces; and up to this weight raw and spun silk, as well as coloured and twisted silk, may be sent to Germany. The rule which forbids the transmission through the Post of any article likely to injure the contents of the Mail Bags or Boxes, or the person of any Officer of the Post Office is, of course, applicable to the Pattern Post; and a packet containing anything of the kind will be stopped, and not sent to its destination. Articles such as the following have been occasionally posted as Patterns, and have been detained as unfit for the Post, viz : Metal boxes, porcelain and China, fruit, vegetables, bunches of flowers, cuttings of plants, spurs, knives, scissors, needles, pins, pieces of machinery, without a cover (in which case it. must not | sharp pointed instruments, samples of be fastened, whether by means of gum, metals, samples of ore, samples in glass wafer, sealing wax, rostage stamp, or bottles, pieces of glass, acids of various otherwise) or in a cover entirely open at kinds, curry combs, copper and steel engraving plates, and confectionery of all

Such articles as scissors, knives, razors, forks, steel pens, nails, keys, watch machinery, metal tubing, pieces of metal or ore, provided that they be packed and guarded in so sectire a manner as to afford complete protection to the contents of the mail bags and to the Officers of the Post Office, while at the same time they may be easily examined, may be sent as samples to the following countries, but to these alone vis., the Agores, Belgium, Cape de Verd Islands, Denmark, Egypt, Germany, Holland, Madeira, Moldavia, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, United States, Wallachia, and the British Colonies; and not even to these places, via France. indigo cannot be sent to any place abroad. A packet of patterns or samples sent to the Azores, Cape de Verd Islands, France, Madeira, Portugal, or by French-packet, to Turkey, Syria, or Egypt, must not exceed 18 inches in length, width, depth ; a packet to any other place abroad must not exceed 24 inches in length or 12 inches in width or depth.

The Post Office is not, by law, responsible for any loss or inconvenience which may arise from the non-delivery, mis-sending, or mis-delivery of any letter, book, or other postal packet (even if the packet be registered); nor is the Post Office responsible for any injury which a packet may sustain during its transmission.

To guard against such injury all postal packets which are likely to suffer from stamping or from great pressure should be placed in strong covers; and even with this precaution no fragile article should be sent through the Post. It should be remembered that every packet has to be handled several times; that it is exposed to considerable pressure and friction in the mail bag; and that, whenever the bag has in the course of its transmission to be transferred by means of the railway apparatus, the risk of injury is much increased. 'No information can be given respecting letters which pass through a Post Office except to the persons to whom they are addressed; and in no other way is official information of a private character allowed to be made public. A Postmaster may, however, give an address if he has no reason to believe that the person whose address it is would disapprove of his doing so.

Postmasters are not allowed to return any etter or other packet to the writer or sender, or to any one else, or to delay forwarding it to its destination according to the address, even though a request to such effect be written thereon.

Postmasters are not bound to give change, nor are they authorised to demand change; and when money is paid at a Post Office, whether as change or otherwise, no question as to its right amount, goodness, or weight can be entertained after it has been removed from the counter.

Postmasters are not bound to weigh any letters or other packets for the public, but they may do so if their duty be not thereby.

The practice of sealing letters passing to and from the East and West Indies, and other countries with hot climates, with wax (except such as is specially prepared). attended with much inconvenience, and frequently with serious injury, not only to the letters so sealed but to the other letters in the mail, from the melting of the wax and adhesion of the letters to each other, public are therefore recommended, in all such cases, to use either wafers or gum, and to advise their correspondents in the count additional Commission, unless it have retries referred to, to do the same.

The registration of a packet makes its transmission much more secure, inasmuch as, under ordinary circumstances, a registered packet can be traced through its whole course; and thus the loss of a registered packet is a very rate occurrence. Nevertheless large sums of money or other articles originally drawn. of great value should not be sent through arranged with a view to such transmission. By law, the Post Office is not responsible for the safe delivery of registered packets though any officer who may neglect his duty on this point will be called to strict able articles are exposed to risk, and offer a temptation which ought not to be created ! and the Department cannot in any way undertake the sale conveyance of such therefore, which contain coin, and all jewellery, even though they be posted without registration, are treated as register. ed, and charged on delivery with a double registration fee of eightpence in addition to the ordinary postage; and any such letters by whomsvever presented, the paying Office which tannot be registered in time to be will not be liable to any further claim, It

THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on-China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queriés on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, o.c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern, Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resume in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two assays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Keview. Ad dress China Review, Houghong.—Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the fol lowing notice of the China Review: -- "This Is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foct as it nome respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of at tention that has been bestowed of late year upon the investigation of Chinese literature antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to th secumulation of important stores of inform ation, rendering some such channel of pub licity as is now provided extremely desir able; and contributions of much interes may fairly be looked for from the member of the foreign consular services, the Chines Customs' corps, and the missionary body among whom a high degree of Chines acholarship is now assiduously cultivated and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highl creditable to their respective authors. I Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronologics problems and arguments involved in con nexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and play are marked by both accuracy and freshnes of style; and an account of the career the Chinese poet-statesman of the elevent century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowrs is not only historically valuable, but is als distinguished by its literary grace. Besid the East, which will be a useful feature the Review, if carried out with punctualit and detail, we are glad to notice the "Notes" and "Queries" are destined find a place in its pages also. It is to b hoped that this oponing for contribution on Chinese subjects may evoke a simila degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prede cessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will Ningpo orm a substantial octavo magazine.

THE CHINESE MAIL.

This paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed at Four Dollars per annum delivered in Hongkong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents in- F cluding postage to Coast ports.

Is so the first Chinese Newspaper ever He issued under purely native direction. The Ke editorial department is conducted by K Mr Chun Ayin, whose experience and competence have already been most fully demonstrated. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing.

The projectors, bacing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,— from Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Saigou, and other places frequented by the Chinece,—consider themselves notified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantaged offered to adverstigers are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find It to their interest to avail themselves of

The field open to a paper of this deadription-conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in tone— in almost limitless. It on the one hand commands Chinese belief and interest While on the other deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners.
Like English journals it contains Editorials, with Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements. Bubacription orders for either of the
